BANDITS PULL DARING THEFT AT R. R. STATION

MINUTE AND A HALF JOB NETS ROBBERS OVER HALF MILLION DOLLARS; GET 40,000 DOLLAR BILLS

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill., April 7—Currency and securities amounting to between $500,000 and $750,000 were believed to have been secured by bandits near the tracks of the Dearborn Station here late yesterday.

Conflicting stories have been received, but all agree that the act did not take more than a minute and a half.

Played Baseball

One story accepted as probably true was that the robbers had nonchalantly played baseball all afternoon in back of the station and that when this certain mail truck arrived they changed their gloves for revolvers and rushed up to the mail clerks and demanded the pouches. Later reports, however, seem to be that the robbers rushed up to the truck in an automobile just as it was preparing to unload. One man rushed up to the driver and demanded the pouch and it was handed over. The others took the other two pouches and made their get away in a car.

Only one shot was fired during the robbery. Policemen, having heard the shouts of the aroused mail clerks, fired two shots, but apparently without effect. The number of the bandit car showed it to have been one stolen on March 30.

Much Currency

In the registered pouch, wrappers indicated that a large amount had been taken. The wrappers indicated there had been one package of 40,000 one dollar bills. Another package contained $50,000 in currency and another one hundred bills each of $1,000.

An investigation taken up by the post office indicated as nearly as possible the exact amount of the loot. The cash obtained was addressed to the bank of Minneapolis.

NEGOTIATIONS OFF IN ENGLISH COAL STRIKE

(By Associated Press)

London, April 7—Leaders of the miners union which conferred with Premier Lloyd George this morning, refused to order pump men engineers of the mines affected by the coal strike to resume work pending negotiations with the mine owners. As a result of their refusal the owners and employes will not meet today.

The national union of railway men conferred during the forenoon but did not remain in session to hear the result of the premier's conference.

The conference of the prime minister and mine employes lasted upward to two hours. Lloyd George together with Sir Robert Horne chancellor of the Exchequer and Thomas MacNamara, and officials of the mines, urged the miners to accede to the owner's conditions. This the miners refused to do and declared that they were unable to consent to it. Shortly after the adjournment of the conference the board issued official statement that "negotiations have broken down."

Miller advises that all be careful in regard to grass fires so that no property loss will occur.

ROTARIANS HEAR REPORT OF FARGO CONVENTION; WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

A. D. Graves representing the Central Howard Association of Chicago, an organization which aids the convicts in prisons by improving their conditions and teaching them vocations, made an interesting talk before the Rotary Club Wednesday noon. He said:

Aids Prisoners

"The Central Howard Association stands fourscore for three things, namely, the amelioration of things in prisons, that they may be more sanitary and hygenic; the rehabilitation of these men when they finish their sentence, and the prevention of crime. By the former we accomplish the latter. We assisted 972 men last year. Of these 85 percent have succeeded and are doing remarkably well today. We consider this phenominal, for if you should go out on the street and designate 100 men in all probability 85 percent of them would not prove a success. 251 of the men paroled directly to our organization last year earned $179,963, an average of $823 per man. It cost $1,000 to convict a man of felony, and $250 a year for maintenance while he is in prison. All this was saved the tax-paying public on a contributed budget of less than one-fifteenth of the earnings of these men, or namely $12.50 per beneficiary. This small cost is due largely to the fact that when these men become self-sustaining, they all generally reimburse the organization."

"500,000 men, women and children will enter prisons this year. Of these 50 per cent are repeaters and are classed as habitual criminals. Between 50 and 60 percent of the inmates of all penal institutions exhibit some form of nervous or mental abnormality, which is the most potent influence underlying their chronic criminality.

Nominate Directors

Ten men were nominated for positions on the board of directors by the club, the new officers and directors to be chosen at the election next week.

O. R. Roenius gave an interesting report of the Fargo convention which was attended by eight of the members of the local club.

CHIPPEWA MEN VISIT CITY VIA AIRPLANE

Th first aeroplane of the season to land in this city arrived shortly before the noon hour today. It carried Lieut. Hallgren, the pilot, and G. W. Van Buren, who are making an advertising flight in the interest of the Elks' Mardi Gras and Home Coming in Chippewa Falls from June 28 to July 4 next.

While here they are visiting with brother Elks and disposing of tickets which besides being good for the various concessions of the Mardi Gras include a chance on Hotel Northern, the magnificent $300,000 hostelry in Chippewa Falls which will be given away to the holder of the lucky number as a feature of the coming festival.

The visitors soar over the city tomorrow dropping leaflets and other printed matter from the airplane advertising the Mardi Gras and Homecoming. It took them a little over fifteen minutes to come from Marshfield, where they spent the night after advertising themselves thoroly with the Marshfield populace. They will leave this city tomorrow morning for Stevens Point.

The failures of some will be found an eternity beyond the successes of others.

THIEVES LEFT LARGE SUM IN COYLE STORE

POLICE WORKING ON A CLUE WHICH MAY LEAD IN APPREHENSION OF THEFT IN LOCAL PHARMACY

The thieves who entered the E. M. Coyle Pharmacy on Tuesday night, opening the safe by working the combination, and looting it of $350 or more money and ransacking the store, taking many valuable articles, overlooked a neat sum of money which was kept in another section of the store. The other money, the amount of which was not mentioned, was the receipts of the city electric and water department, which were paid at the local store by east side patrons.

Entered by Front

E. M. Coyle, proprietor of the looted store has not made a thorough estimate of his losses, but it is thought that he had more than $350 in cash in the safe, some loose change in the cash register and in one of the money tills. He stated that the thieves evidently made their entrance through the front door, as it was impossible to gain entrance through the rear. The rear door was left open by the thieves in making exit. It is Mr. Coyle's belief that the entrance was gained by means of a heavy key used to open the front door lock.

May Get Thief

It is still a mystery how the thief or thieves gained entrance to the heavy safe. The work was not th of a yeggman for no explosives were used to blow open the door. The thief must have had knowledge of the combination or was an expert at the game.

Police are working today on a clue which may lead to an early arrest. It was not learned whether the suspect is a local man or outsider. The bloodhound used here was unable to lead to any trail that could be used

DENIES MURDER OF GEORGIA NEGROES

(By Associated Press)

Covington, Ga. April 7.—John T. Williams, plantation owner, on trial for the murder of one of the eleven negroes found dead near his plantation, took the stand on his own behalf today. "I have bonded out negroes," he said, "and given them work. Nearly every Georgoa farmer is technically guilty of peonage under the definition of that term given it by the federal agents."

He denied knowledge of the killing of Peterson Preston and Price, three of the dead farm hands. Clyde Manning, William's farm boss and the star witness for the state, stated that the men were bound and thrown into the river with stones in the sacks attached to them, at William's order.

The discovery of Peterson's and Price's bodies lead to the investigation. Manning testified that Williams helped him take the men to the bridge and helped to put them over the railing.

Williams testified that the last he saw of the three negroes was when they came to him the night before and said they wanted to visit their homes, and that he gave them five dollars each.

"Whoever put the bodies in the river, did it for a purpose" he stated. "I know if I had done it, I would have plenty of time to get far enough away where they could not have put their hands on me."

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS POSTPONE THEIR SALE

R. A. Peterson, sales manager for the Central Wisconsin Holstein Breeders Association, announces the fact that the date of the 13th annual sale has been postponed until June 1st. N. Y. CENTRAL DENIED LABOR CUT BY BOARD

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill., April 7—Permission to make the provisional reduction of wages of unskilled labor on the New York Central railroad was denied by the railroad labor board here today.

The railroad recently requested the permission to put the cut of from 17 to 31 percent into effect on April 1. The dispute was taken to the labor board after the railroad and employes had conferred.

The dispute between the New York Central and unskilled labor employes over a permanent reduction in wages will be heard on April 8 in connection with similar disputes which have been filed by other railroads.

A decision passed by the board in connection with the New York Central decision states that the roads will also take up with other carriers disputes at that time.

CALLAHAN LEADS IN STATE RACE

CARY WILL NOT CONCEDE ELECTION TO OPPONENT IN SPITE OF LEAD IN STATE

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee, April 7—The race in the election for state superintendent of schools between C. P. Cary, incumbent and John Callahan, director of vocational education was still in doubt today. With official returns from 926 of the 2425 precincts in the state reported. Callahan leads with 11,740 votes with the figures standing. Callahan has 95,134 and Cary 80,394.

Callahan Wins in Cities

Reports from widely scattered districts indicate that Callahan is running strong in industrial quarters while Cary is keeping the lead in the rural districts.

Callahan's headquarters today were confident of victory, declaring that the returns from the northern counties coupled with the votes against Cary in the Lake Shore counties will spell defeat for Superintendent Cary.

Cary Admits Lead

Cary admits that Callahan is leading so far but will not concede his election. Definite returns received today include Rusk county which gave Callahan 13,110 and Cary 696, Portage county with two precincts missing, gave Cary 1,715 nd Callahan 1737.

BENNETT-MORRIS RACE WILL BE VERY CLOSE

With but four towns to be heard from in the County, the race between Miss Ruth Bennett and Robert Morris, present superintendent for the county superintendent of schools, the race begins to look like a close one. Miss Bennett at a late hour this afternoon had a lead of 262 votes over Mr. Morris.

The towns yet to be heard from are Cary, Hiles Hansen and Rock. Unless Miss Bennett can keep her present lead the race will likely be a very close one.

BEG PARDON

The Tribune stated that Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Marling entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Christianson, who are leaving soon for Chicago. This was a mistake as the several friends of Mr. and Mrs. Christianson surprised them at their own home.

In the account of the election at Seneca it was stated that Peter Condo received 21 votes and Joe Lamers 29 for assesor, which should have read Peter Condo 31 and Joe Lamers 29.

Ald. Peter Tomsyck received 88 votes for alderman in the fifth ward and William Bonow 54, the results published Wednesday being incorrect.

Flying at 70 miles an hour against a 60-mile wind, it is estimated that an airplane would make no progress.

BOSSERT GETS CONTRACT FOR LOCAL PAVING

COUNCIL DECIDES PAVING PROGRAM; LINCOLN STREET FIRST TO GET CONCRETE; SOUTH SIDE GETS ATTENTION

Fred Bossert, local contractor and road builder was awarded the bid for the concrete paving outlined in the city's paving program for this season. Mr. Bossert's bid of $2.69 per square yard was the lowest bid offered when contractors submitted their estimates and the Board of Public Works upon recommendation of the mayor and the City Engineer Aldrich favored the granting of the contract to Bossert. This action was ratified by the council at the meeting Wednesday night.

Determine Paving

The most important part of the paving program was decided by the council following the reading of a letter written by the village of Port Edwards and the report of the Chamber of Commerce street paving committee when it was determined to alter the paving plans by ordering in the new concrete on the South Side road starting from the end of the present south side pavement and working toward the city of Wisconsin Rapids as far as the money would permit which would be to the Northwestern tracks. Port Edwards village officials and the Chamber of Commerce committee both urged that the bad stretch of road between the Northwestern tracks and the south side paving be taken care of before the concrete is laid on Second Avenue South from the Conway corner to the street car tracks near the Johnson barn. The council was unanimous in laying the paving from the southern end of the bad stretch first, completing the part in front of the Johnson and Nash properties next year.

Pave First Street North

Considerable discussion developed over the First street north paving project. It was finally decided that the stretch of road between the ice house and the end of the Biron paving should be ordered in and then First street north from the Library to the Green Bay tracks should be laid. The council came within an ace of passing a motion to postpone the paving to the Green Bay station until next year doing the portion north of the station past the ice house before the inside work was started. The amended mo-

BLOODHOUND USED TO TRACK AUTO THIEF

The local police department wired to Mauston for the bloodhound last Tuesday afternoon and the owner, E. P. Senogles, arrived in this city with the dog about 7 o'clock that evening. Soon after the arrival the hound was given a scent from the car and then was taken to the place where the car was found. Immediately upon reaching the spot the dog picked up the scent and followed it to a nearby house and upon reaching there it stopped.

The dog was again taken there Wednesday afternoon, and the same trail was followed by the dog as on the previous night. No men were found in the house, by the police, but a girl's track, near the spot where the car was found, was discovered

OPEN LAKES NAVIGATION

(By Associated Press)

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 7.—Greeted by the blowing of whistles of factories which lasted for an hour, the Steamship Sir Thomas Chaugnessy opened the navigation of the Great Lakes here this morning. The vessel, one of the last to leave port last year, entered here this morning at 11 a. m. This year, navigation opened twelve days earlier than in 1920.

SELLS RESIDENCE

J. S. Christensen has purchased the George Reader residence on Fourth avenue north and will use it for residence purposes. The deal was made by Geo. Forrand, local realtor.

MOVE CREAMERY

The Mott & Wood Co. are moving their creamery in the town of Sigel, from Fishers Crossing, about three miles north, near the Polish church.

CITY ASKS STATE TO HOLD HEARING HERE

The council has voted to ask the State Railroad commission to hold a hearing in Wisconsin Rapids in the near future to determine the advisability of the ordering a viaduct to be built on Second avenue south where the Northwestern tracks cross that thoroughfare and the street car line.

Mayor Briere announced to the council that the costs had been estimated at $28,000 approximately. The cost to the city would be between five and eight thousand dollars with the two railroad companies footing the rest of the bill.

COUNCIL KILLS DAYLIGHT PLAN

OLD SOL TO REIGN SUPREME SETTING THE TIME OF DAY IN WISCONSIN RAPIDS—WILL CUT DOWN TREES

With but very little debate and plenty of decision, the city council voted unanimously to turn down the petition of local citizens to set the clocks ahead an hour as petitioned in the proposed daylight saving plan. The petition had been circulated by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce on the request of several local people who believed that the plan would be beneficial to the city of Wisconsin Rapids. Several citizens present urged the aldermen not to grant the petition and some of the city fathers themselves thought the sun was a better judge of time than any man made schedule.

Trees Must Go

The ticklish matter of trees and sidewalks was brought up by Alderman Roenius chairman of the sidewalk committee. He said he was reluctant to report along the other members of the committee that several of the fine trees in the city would have to be sacrificed to let the sidewalks where they belonged. The council after much consideration of their recent ordinance in which it was decided that all trees interfering with the surveyed line of sidewalks would have to be cut down, refused to interfere with the program of the sidewalk committee to lay the sidewalks in the city regularly. The trees in front of the Connor estate property on Drake street will come under the council order and will have to be cut down to make way for the sidewalk. The council ordered sidewalks put in on Second Avenue south, on Chase street, Seventh Avenue south and crossings of Elm, Grant and Chestnut streets.

Will Buy Cart

The council ordered the city engineer to buy a garbage wagon not to exceed $450 and a one man grader to take care of the city needs.

Election results were canvassed by the council and the newly elected aldermen, supervisors and Judge W. H. Getts were declared elected.

Petitions for sewer and water several in number, were read and referred to committees as were the requests for arc lights. The plat of the Kellogg Bros. Lumber Co. land was reapproved by the council. The proposition of Assessor Clark Lyons for additional clerk hire was not granted.

AMERICAN CONSUL ESCAPES BEING SHOT

Cork, Ireland, April 7—Mason Mitchell, American counsel in Ireland, narrowly escaped being shot while riding here from Queenstown last week. Mr. Mitchell was riding with R. Harrigan, in an automobile and came to a street where the soldiers were lined up. They failed to hear the challenge to stop.

The officer in charge ordered the men to take aim and was about to give word to fire on the car when Manager Riley of the Hibernian Bank of Cork, rushed out and cried: "For God's sake don't shoot. That's the American counsel." The officer then ordered his men to put away their rifles.

WEATHER HERE IS THE WARMEST IN 20 YEARS

The highest temperature registered here yesterday was 75 degrees while the lowest was 35. Last year on the same date the extreme temperatures were 35 and 14. Mr. Nixon reports that the weather we have been having here the last few days is the warmest we have had here during the same period for over twenty years.

The warmest place in the United States yesterday was Abiline, Texas with 88 above while 16 above at Yellowstone Park was the coldest.

The southwest storm is moving eastard, but in all probability it will not be of much consequence in this section. Disturbances are overspreading Southern California, Utah and Oklahoma and Texas. In Lander, Wyoming there is 20 inches of snow on the ground. Colder weather will gradually overspread this entire district, including Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, but no real cold weather is expected.

The next twenty-four hours, Mr. Nixon predicts partly cloudy and colder weather.

He denied knowledge of the killing of Peterson Preston and Price, three of the dead farm hands. Clyde Manning, William's farm boss and the star witness for the state, stated that the men were bound and thrown into the river with stones in the sacks attached to them, at William's order.

The discovery of Peterson's and Price's bodies lead to the investigation. Manning testified that Williams helped him take the men to the bridge and helped to put them over the railing.

Williams testified that the last he saw of the three negroes was when they came to him the night before and said they wanted to visit their homes, and that he gave them five dollars each.

"Whoever put the bodies in the river, did it for a purpose" he stated. "I know if I had done it, I would have plenty of time to get far enough away where they could not have put their hands on me."

N. Y. CENTRAL DENIED LABOR CUT BY BOARD

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill., April 7—Permission to make the provisional reduction of wages of unskilled labor on the New York Central railroad was denied by the railroad labor board here today.

The railroad recently requested the permission to put the cut of from 17 to 31 percent into effect on April 1. The dispute was taken to the labor board after the railroad and employes had conferred.

The dispute between the New York Central and unskilled labor employes over a permanent reduction in wages will be heard on April 8 in connection with similar disputes which have been filed by other railroads.

A decision passed by the board in connection with the New York Central decision states that the roads will also take up with other carriers disputes at that time.

CALLAHAN LEADS IN STATE RACE

CARY WILL NOT CONCEDE ELECTION TO OPPONENT IN SPITE OF LEAD IN STATE

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee, April 7—The race in the election for state superintendent of schools between C. P. Cary, incumbent and John Callahan, director of vocational education was still in doubt today. With official returns from 926 of the 2425 precincts in the state reported, Callahan leads with 11,740 votes with the figures standing. Callahan has 95,134 and Cary 80,394.

Callahan Wins in Cities

Reports from widely scattered districts indicate that Callahan is running strong in industrial quarters while Cary is keeping the lead in the rural districts.

Callahan's headquarters today were confident of victory, declaring that the returns from the northern counties coupled with the votes against Cary in the Lake Shore counties will spell defeat for Superintendent Cary.

Cary Admits Lead

Cary admits that Callahan is leading so far but will not concede his election. Definite returns received today include Rusk county which gave Callahan 13,110 and Cary 696, Portage county with two precincts missing, gave Cary 1,715 nd Callahan 1737.

BENNETT-MORRIS RACE WILL BE VERY CLOSE

With but four towns to be heard from in the County, the race between Miss Ruth Bennett and Robert Morris, present superintendent for the county superintendent of schools, the race begins to look like a close one. Miss Bennett at a late hour this afternoon had a lead of 262 votes over Mr. Morris.

The towns yet to be heard from are Cary, Hiles Hansen and Rock. Unless Miss Bennett can keep her present lead the race will likely be a very close one.

BEG PARDON

The Tribune stated that Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Marling entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Christianson, who are leaving soon for Chicago. This was a mistake as the several friends of Mr. and Mrs. Christianson surprised them at their own home.

In the account of the election at Seneca it was stated that Peter Condo received 21 votes and Joe Lamers 29 for assesor, which should have read Peter Condo 31 and Joe Lamers 29.

Ald. Peter Tomsyck received 88 votes for alderman in the fifth ward and William Bonow 54, the results published Wednesday being incorrect.

Flying at 70 miles an hour against a 60-mile wind, it is estimated that an airplane would make no progress.

BOSSERT GETS CONTRACT FOR LOCAL PAVING

COUNCIL DECIDES PAVING PROGRAM; LINCOLN STREET FIRST TO GET CONCRETE: SOUTH SIDE GETS ATTENTION

Fred Bossert, local contractor and road builder was awarded the bid for the concrete paving outlined in the city's paving program for this season. Mr. Bossert's bid of $2.69 per square yard was the lowest bid offered when contractors submitted their estimates and the Board of Public Works upon recommendation of the mayor and the City Engineer Aldrich favored the granting of the contract to Bossert. This action was ratified by the council at the meeting Wednesday night.

Determine Paving

The most important part of the paving program was decided by the council following the reading of a letter written by the village of Port Edwards and the report of the Chamber of Commerce street paving committee when it was determined to alter the paving plans by ordering in the new concrete on the South Side road starting from the end of the present south side pavement and working toward the city of Wisconsin Rapids as far as the money would permit which would be to the Northwestern tracks. Port Edwards village officials and the Chamber of Commerce committee both urged that the bad stretch of road between the Northwestern tracks and the south side paving be taken care of before the concrete is laid on Second Avenue South from the Conway corner to the street car tracks near the Johnson barn. The council was unanimous in laying the paving from the southern end of the bad stretch first, completing the part in front of the Johnson and Nash properties next year.

Pave First Street North

Considerable discussion developed over the First street north paving project. It was finally decided that the stretch of road between the ice house and the end of the Biron paving should be ordered in and then First street north from the Library to the Green Bay tracks should be laid. The council came within an ace of passing a motion to postpone the paving to the Green Bay station until next year doing the portion north of the station past the ice house before the inside work was started. The amended mo-

BLOODHOUND USED TO TRACK AUTO THIEF

The local police department wired to Manston for the bloodhound last Tuesday afternoon and the owner, E. P. Senogles, arrived in this city with the dog about 7 o'clock that evening. Soon after the arrival the hound was given a scent from the car and then was taken to the place where the car was found. Immediately upon reaching the spot the dog picked up the scent and followed it to a nearby house and upon reaching there it stopped.

The dog was again taken there Wednesday afternoon, and the same trail was followed by the dog as on the previous night. No men were found in the house, by the police, but a girl's track, near the spot where the car was found, was discovered.

OPEN LAKES NAVIGATION

(By Associated Press)

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 7.—Greeted by the blowing of whistles of factories which lasted for an hour, the Steamship Sir Thomas Chaugnessy opened the navigation of the Great Lakes here this morning. The vessel, one of the last to leave port last year, entered here this morning at 11 a. m. This year, navigation opened twelve days earlier than in 1920.

SELLS RESIDENCE

J. S. Christensen has purchased the George Reader residence on Fourth avenue north and will use it for residence purposes. The deal was made by Geo. Forrand, local realtor.

MOVE CREAMERY

The Mott & Wood Co. are moving their creamery in the town of Sigel, from Fishers Crossing, about three miles north, near the Polish church.

CITY ASKS STATE TO HOLD HEARING HERE

The council has voted to ask the State Railroad commission to hold a hearing in Wisconsin Rapids in the near future to determine the advisability of the ordering a viaduct to be built on Second avenue south where the Northwestern tracks cross that thoroughfare and the street car line.

Mayor Briere announced to the council that the costs had been estimated at $28,000 approximately. The cost to the city would be between five and eight thousand dollars with the two railroad companies footing the rest of the bill.

COUNCIL KILLS DAYLIGHT PLAN

OLD SOL TO REIGN SUPREME SETTING THE TIME OF DAY IN WISCONSIN RAPIDS—WILL CUT DOWN TREES

With but very little debate and plenty of decision, the city council voted unanimously to turn down the petition of local citizens to set the clocks ahead an hour as petitioned in the proposed daylight saving plan The petition had been circulated by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce on the request of several local people who believed that the plan would be beneficial to the city of Wisconsin Rapids. Several citizens present urged the aldermen not to grant the petition and some of the city fathers themselves though the sun was a better judge of time than any man made schedule.

Trees Must Go

The ticklish matter of trees and sidewalks was brought up by Alderman Roenius chairman of the sidewalk committee. He said he was reluctant to report along the other members of the committee that several of the fine trees in the city would have to be sacrificed to lay the sidewalks where they belonged The council after much consideration of their recent ordinance in which it was decided that all trees interfering with the surveyed line of sidewalks would have to be cut down, refused to interfere with the program of the sidewalk committee to lay the sidewalks in the city regularly. The trees in front of the Connor estate property on Drake street will come under the council order and will have to be cut down to make way for the sidewalk. The council ordered sidewalks put in on Second Avenue south, on Chase street, Seventh Avenue south and crossings of Elm, Grant and Chestnut streets.

Will Buy Cart

The council ordered the city engineer to buy a garbage wagon not to exceed $450 and a one man grader to take care of the city needs.

Election results were canvassed by the council and the newly elected aldermen, supervisors and Judge W. H. Gotts were declared elected.

Petitions for sewer and water several in number, were read and referred to committees as were the requests for arc lights. The plat of the Kellogg Bros. Lumber Co. land was reapproved by the council. The proposition of Assessor Clark Lyons for additional clerk hire was not granted.

AMERICAN CONSUL ESCAPES BEING SHOT

Cork, Ireland, April 7—Mason Mitchell, American counsel in Ireland, narrowly escaped being shot while riding here from Queenstown last week. Mr. Mitchell was riding with R. Harrigan, in an automobile and came to a street where the soldiers were lined up. They failed to hear the challenge to stop.

The officer in charge ordered the men to take aim and was about to give word to fire on the car when Manager Riley of the Hibernian Bank of Cork, rushed out and cried: "For God's sake don't shoot. That's the American counsel." The officer then ordered his men to put away their rifles.

WEATHER HERE IS THE WARMEST IN 20 YEARS

The highest temperature registered here yesterday was 75 degrees while the lowest was 35. Last year on the same date the extreme temperatures were 35 and 14. Mr. Nixon reports that the weather we have been having here the last few days is the warmest we have had here during the same period for over twenty years.

The warmest place in the United States yesterday was Abiline, Texas with 88 above while 16 above at Yellowstone Park was the coldest.

The southwest storm is moving eastard, but in all probability it will not be of much consequence in this section. Disturbances are overspreading Southern California, Utah and Oklahoma and Texas. In Lander, Wyoming there is 20 inches of snow on the ground. Colder weather will gradually overspread this entire district, including Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, but no real cold weather is expected.

The next twenty-four hours, Mr. Nixon predicts partly cloudy and colder weather.

JUNIORS RAISED $65 TOWARD PIANO FUND

Two hundred people were served at the supper Wednesday evening given by the members of the Junior department of the Congregational Sunday School, in the church basement. A starting fund of $65.00 toward the payment of a piano for the Junior department was realized from the proceeds of the supper.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; colder east and south portion tonight.

NOW FOR A HEARING

The Tribune views with one hundred per cent approval the action of the council calling for a hearing of the Railroad commission in Wisconsin Rapids to give an opinion on the Northwestern crossing over Second avenue south.

It has been estimated that the costs of the viaduct for a crossing will be about $28,000, the city paying about twenty per cent of the costs and the street car company and the C. & N. W. railroad bearing the remainder of the cost.

That crossing is a dangerous crossing. It passes over a road that is the most traveled road in this county. Traffic of all kinds whether local or tourist is entitled to every protection from this city and the council has done the right thing by requesting an investigation here. The cost of building a viaduct and a safe crossing there is nothing compared to the costs to be involved in the first fatal accident that will take place there. Accidents are unavoidable, and precautions, although valuable, will not prevent an accident at that crossing some day.

Plenty of room will be left on either side of the crossing by the city when the paving is done to make possible the building of the structure without additional confusion and extra cost to the city.

FOREST FIRE BURNS OVER 1,000 ACRES

A spark from the engine of the East bound passenger train on the North western line is believed to have started a fire on the right of way last Thursday afternoon. The fire soon spread, owing to the stiff breeze, and before long was extended in a northeasterly direction over the town of Grand Rapids. Land owned by B. M. Vaughn, Nic Thomas, John Farrish and M. Krumerei was in the path of fire and suffered considerable damage. The timber on the Farrish land was burned and also considerable timber belonging to D. D. Conway. Practically all of the pine and hard wood was destroyed. The fire then crossed the four mile road and the town rail road but stopped by the Green Bay and Western Railroad.

The city fire department was called but could do nothing owing to the extreme heat. Some of the flames reached great heights which made it impossible for the department to get within effective fighting distance. A great many citizens offered their assistance and together with the fire department kept the nearby buildings from burning. A conservative estimate of the loss was figured to be between $7,000 and $8,000. Wednesday night the stumps and roots were still burning but had been prevented from spreading further.

DEPENDENT MOTHERS RECEIVE KAN. PENSION

Topeka, Kan.—The mothers' pension law is now operative in every county in the state of Kansas, as a result of the action of the 1921 legislature in making its adoption compulsory but the various boards of the county commisioners, instead of optional. The legislature also increased the maximum monthly payment to mothers with dependent children, from $25 to $50, and this sum may be increased by the board "in case of sickness or unusual conditions."

"The old law failed to accomplish its purpose because of the failure of county boards to enforce it," says a report of the child hygiene bureau of the state health department which sponsored the changes in the law. "In a unit of eighteen counties in which a survey was conducted, a total of but fourty-nine mothers received mothers' pensions during the survey years while upwards to a thousand were known to have been left with dependent children and without adequate income."

Green Bay, Wis.—Arnold Williams and Ray Thompson, Depere youths, were saved from drowning only to be brought into court charged with illegal fishing. Their rescuers appeared against them. The boys were using a dip net off the dam at Depere when game wardens approached them. They tried to escape in a canoe, which overturned.

DR. VALERIA H. PARKER GAVE SPLENDID TALK

A good representation of Wisconsin Rapids women heard the lecture at the Palace theater Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Valeria H. Parker of Washington, D. C., assistant educational director of the American Social Hygiene association, who is making a tour of the state under the auspices of the state board of health.

Beginning with legislation and the enforcement of laws, she told what progress some of the states had made along this line and how much more still remains to be done. She emphasized the necessity of medical inspection and the following up of care suggested by such inspection, and the necessity of appropriations to cover the work. Continuing she pointed out that since healthy young people must have recreation and since modern housing conditions are inadequate and fail to provide recreation rooms, supervised recreational centers, playgrounds and dance halls are necessary. Her final and strongest point was that the children not only need education along regular lies of knowledge, but education of sex knowledge as well, if the nation is to be made up of strong and virile individuals.

Dr. Parker was introduced by Miss Martha Riley, director of social work of the state board of health, who is making the tour with her. Miss Riley also addressed the women. She told how the state board of health is equipped to help any county or city organization when called upon to do so.

Dr. Parker also talked before the Teachers County Normal School at the school building at one-thirty o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

FARMERS NOT LIABLE UNDER PEDDLER LAW

The right of farmers to sell products of the farm from house to house in cities is upheld by William J. Morgan, attorney general of Wisconsin, in an opinion recently handed down. Mr. Morgan holds that farmers, in selling from house to house, do not thereby become peddlers in literal sense and are therefore exempt from the provisions of the state law regulating this class of trades.

"A farmer who occasionally goes from house to house in the city, disposing of produce, is not engaged in peddling and is not required to take out a peddler's license," Mr. Morgan held.

"While in its general and usual sense, the word 'peddle' has reference to the manner of selling and is applicable equally whether the selling in that manner be a regular business or merely a practice restored to from time to time. I think that the legislature in enacting Section 1570 of the statutes, has plainly indicated a legislative intent to subject to the requirement of the peddler's license only such as sell articles in this manner as a business or vocation, but not to include those who may do so only occasionally and merely as an incident to some other business which is their real vocation. The statutes does not say, 'No person shall peddle within the state without having first obtained license for that purpose,' but reads, 'No person shall engage in or follow the business or occupation of a hawker or peddler within this state without having first obtained a license."

DR. VALERIA H. PARKER GAVE SPLENDID TALK

A good representation of Wisconsin Rapids women heard the lecture at the Palace theater Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Valeria H. Parker of Washington, D. C., assistant educational director of the American Social Hygiene association, who is making a tour of the state under the auspices of the state board of health.

Beginning with legislation and the enforcement of laws, she told what progress some of the states had made along this line and how much more still remains to be done. She emphasized the necessity of medical inspection and the following up of care suggested by such inspection, and the necessity of appropriations to cover the work. Continuing she pointed out that since healthy young people must have recreation and since modern housing conditions are inadequate and fail to provide recreation rooms, supervised recreational centers, playgrounds and dance halls are necessary. Her final and strongest point was that the children not only need education along regular lies of knowledge, but education of sex knowledge as well, if the nation is to be made up of strong and virile individuals.

Dr. Parker was introduced by Miss Martha Riley, director of social work of the state board of health, who is making the tour with her. Miss Riley also addressed the women. She told how the state board of health is equipped to help any county or city organization when called upon to do so.

Dr. Parker also talked before the Teachers County Normal School at the school building at one-thirty o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

FARMERS NOT LIABLE UNDER PEDDLER LAW

The right of farmers to sell products of the farm from house to house in cities is upheld by William J. Morgan, attorney general of Wisconsin, in an opinion recently handed down. Mr. Morgan holds that farmers, in selling from house to house, do not thereby become peddlers in literal sense and are therefore exempt from the provisions of the state law regulating this class of trades.

"A farmer who occasionally goes from house to house in the city, disposing of produce, is not engaged in peddling and is not required to take out a peddler's license," Mr. Morgan held.

"While in its general and usual sense, the word 'peddle' has reference to the manner of selling and is applicable equally whether the selling in that manner be a regular business or merely a practice restored to from time to time. I think that the legislature in enacting Section 1570 of the statutes, has plainly indicated a legislative intent to subject to the requirement of the peddler's license only such as sell articles in this manner as a business or vocation, but not to include those who may do so only occasionally and merely as an incident to some other business which is their real vocation. The statutes does not say, 'No person shall peddle within the state without having first obtained license for that purpose,' but reads, 'No person shall engage in or follow the business or occupation of a hawker or peddler within this state without having first obtained a license."

Loved Milliner's Flowers.

It is a custom of the Alaskan Indians to deposit on the grave of a friend some of the things the man or woman had loved best in life. On one grave a milliner in Ketchican, Alaska, recognized a long wreath of flowers as having been purchased at her shop. Each grave is covered over with a floor, roof and balustrade in su manner as to resemble at a distance a little white house.

Responsibility is the weighted keel which preserves the balance of the ship of life.

Violin Superstitions.

There is no musical instrument about which cling so many queer notions and superstitions as the violin. One of the strangest is that held by so many people that the tone of a violin is often improved by its being broken and then mended. It seems almost incredible, but that very idea is believed by thousands of people.

We may measure our road to wisdom by the sorrows we have undergone.

"Act," used principally on old gravestones, means "aged."

FOREST FIRE BURNS OVER 1,000 ACRES

A spark from the engine of the East bound passenger train on the North-western line is believed to have started a fire on the right of way last Thursday afternoon. The fire soon spread, owing to the stiff breeze, and before long was extended in a northeasterly direction over the town of Grand Rapids. Land owned by B. M. Vaughn, Nic Thomas, John Farrish and M. Krumerei was in the path of fire and suffered considerable damage. The timber on the Farrisll land was burned and also considerable timber belonging to D. D. Conway. Practically all of the pine and hard wood was destroyed. The fire then crossed the four mile road and the town rall road but stopped by the Green Bay and Western Railroad.

The city fire department was called but could do nothing owing to the extreme heat. Some of the flames reached great heights which made it impossible for the department to get within effective fighting distance. A great many citizens offered their assistance and together with the fire department kept the nearby buildings from burning. A conservative estimate of the loss was figured to be between $7,000 and $8,000. Wednesday night the stumps and roots were still burning but had been prevented from spreading further.

DEPENDENT MOTHERS RECEIVE KAN. PENSION

Topeka, Kan.—The mothers' pension law is now operative in every county in the state of Kansas, as a result of the action of the 1921 legislature in making its adoption compulsory but the various boards of the county commisioners, instead of optional. The legislature also increased the maximum montily payment to mothers with dependent children, from $25 to $50, and this sum may be increased by the board "in case of sickness or unusual conditions."

"The old law failed to accomplish its purpose because of the failure of county boards to enforce it," says a report of the child hygiene bureau of the state health department which sponsored the changes in the law. "In a unit of eighteen counties in which a survey was conducted, a total of but fourty-nine mothers received mothers' pensions during the survey years while upwards to a thousand were known to have been left with dependent children and without adequate income."

Green Bay, Wis.—Arnold Williams and Ray Thompson, Depere youths, were saved from drowning only to be brought into court charged with illegal fishing. Their rescuers appeared against them. The boys were using a dip net off the dam at Depere when game wardens approached them. They tried to escape in a canoe, which overturned.

A TAX ON THE PLAY OF KIDS IS PROPOSED

TAX ON SPORTING GOODS AMOUNTS TO A TAX ON THE PLAY OF KIDS AND ALSO ON THE PUBLIC HEALTH

A national campaign has been started to present to the people of the country the reasons why the 10 per cent tax on athletic goods should be repealed. Originally we are wary of such campaigns, fostered and financed by interested parties, but the purpose of this one possesses such merit and the effect of the tax is so widespread that we feel that we should call attention to it in a special fashion.

Seventy per cent of the athletic goods sold in this country is bought and used by the "kids" on the corner lots. Only a small portion of the goods is used professionally. The tax is on the play of childhood, and that means that it is a tax on the public health. And such a tax. Implements used in the prepaation of crime are the only items more heavily taxed than athletic goods, and certainly they should not be placed in the same class.

Tax Pushed Through

The levying of the exorbitant tax upon the play of "Young America" was one of those utterly foolish things which somehow the last Congress did in the rush and hurry of running a revenue bill. The matter was never thoroughly investigated and consequently it got by. We are persuaded that if it had been investigated fully the tax never would have been levied.

Army Developed Sports

One of the same things which the entrance of the United States into the world war revealed was the low average physical condition of the American youth. Experts in all sections of the country commented upon it and without exception among the leading causes of this condition which they all cited that there had not been sufficient interest in outdoor sports in this country. They all declared that a campaign must be begun to promote a wider interest in sports of all kinds. The importance of it was emphasized by the military authorities by the high place given to all kinds of sports in the training camps while we were organizing our Army. Now that the war is over this is one of the things that ought to have serious attention.

Object to Congress

And right at the outset we are confronted by this tax. In other words, we are in worse shape in his respect than we were before the war for we have placed a heavy burden upon the play of American children. The campaign which has been started is for the purpose of having this tax repealed at the present special session of Congress. Men and women are being asked to write or wire their Congressmen and Senators in regard to it. Originally we would hesitate to advise people to comply with the requests. But, it seems to us, this is a case in which advice is not necessary. The average man or woman can decide for himself or herself whether this is a just tax or not. It is a simple proposition. We think the tax ought to be repealed, not only because it is a tax on the play of the children, but is the first necessary step toward the encouragement of ourdoor sports in this country. Think it over and decide what you ought to do about it.

IN THE NAME OF RELIGION!

Weird and Savage Rites Indulged In by the Khlysts, Sect of Russian Fanatics.

One of the queer religious sects of the world is the Christs or Khlysts of Russia. They hold their meetings in their churches with hundreds of men, women and children attending. After prayers and hymns that last until midnight they begin a wild dance amid sobs and groans. After this continues for a while they abandon their garments and put on white robes and white stockings. Candles are lighted, and a new dance begins that consists of rapidly revolving, the men to the right, the women to the left.

In a short time a sort of madness falls upon them. They leap, scream, bear themselves and each other, indulge in wild laughter and cries, and then begin to tear off the garments with shouts of "It is coming, the Holy Spirit is coming!" They begin to go about on all fours, riding on one another's backs, rolling about on the floor, biting and scratching one another, and at last go entirely insane and dash about until they fall exhausted. By dawn the church floor is covered with naked men, women and children, unconscious and blood-stained.

It is only by keeping our eyes fixed on what light we have that we can ever get any more light.

CRADEN IS IN GOOD TRIM FOR DRISCOLL BOUT

MATCHMAKER J. E. FARLEY RECEIVES LETTER INFORMING HIM OF CRADEN'S CONDITION. EXPECTS TO BEAT DRISCOLL

Word was received Wednesday afternoon from Sammy Craden, who meets Billy Driscoll on April 11th, that he is in great condition for the coming match. The letter was received by J. E. Farley, matchmaker for the Tri-City Athletic Club, and expresses great faith in his ability to give Driscoll an artistic lacing in their 10 rounds go. The two men have never met, but have watched each other, when in action against various men, and each holds the opinion that the other was made to order for him.

Expect Fast Fight

Driscoll lost a close fight Monday night to Walter Grayjack the former Great Lakes star, and is going to rest up until the fight with Craden. He is of the opinion that Craden will meet his waterloo on that light and promises to do a considerable amount of decorating on various parts of Craden's anatomy. The way things now look it seems that they promise to hit each other with every thing but a water bucket and the Wisconsin Commission will not allow that. Anyway the fur will fly in Daly's Opera House like it never flew before and those who don't attend will make the fur fly the next day for letting a good card go by without attending.

Fights In Semi-Windup

Craden fights in the semi-windup to the Pinkey Mitchell Irish Patsy Cline scrap which will take place April 8th in Milwaukee. To appear in the semi-windup on a card of that class shows the favor in which Craden is held in the ex-beer city.

"Kid" Black is also in great shape and intends to make such a good showing in the Young Britton scrap that the local club will use him in their next wind-up. He is fighting the wind-up this week for Matchmaker Frazier's Nenosha club and is a great favorite with the Kenosha fans.

Are Training Daily

The two local scrappers are going at their training "hammer and tongs" fashion and are all ready in first class shape. Their training quarters, next to the Witter Hotel, is filled with local fans who watch the men go thru their training. Every night from 7:30 until 9:00 they are at work and are ready to take on all-comers. An addmission of 15 cents is charged to watch the training. The money derived will be used to buy equipment for training purposes.

"Fighting" Abe is progressing rapidly and the sparring matches between the two brothers at times is anything but a parlor affair. They have some regular mix-ups and those who attend say it is "sure worth the money." Harry Young of Nekoosa, who meets Fighting Abe, returned from a trip up in the Northern part of the state Wednesday. He is also in good shape and is determined to beat Abe.

Lincoln Street First

Lincoln Street, one of the city's most notorious mudholes will get the attention of Mr. Bossert's concrete layers the first thing. Sewer and water are already in that street and the property owners have been looking for attention up there for over a year. This matter precipitated a misunderstanding among the citizens, councilmen and the mayor and Mr. Bojers ruled that in the paving project adopted the council had determined that paving of the south side road did not get priority over the Lincoln street job because the south side road was not prepared for sewer and water nor graded all of which had been done on Lincoln street and on Fourth Ave. which was the fourth place on which the council placed as o. k. for paving. Fourth avenue north will be paved from Grand Avenue to the Green Bay tracks. The Lincoln street job runs from Peach street to Witter Street.

Starts Work Soon

Aldermen Whitrock, Marx and Lynch championed the cause of home labor and wanted the council to recommend that the contractor use local men. Ald. Lynch wanted an eight-hour day. Mr. Bossert stated that he would leave the matter up to the workmen. If they want an eight hour day the matter will be decided that way he said. If they want a ten hour day they may make the choice. Mayor Biere ruled that the city had no jurisdiction over the time men worked under contractors.

Mr. Bossert stated that he would start operations in the near future laying curbing and gutter. He will employ between thirty and fifty men and estimated that it would be the middle of October before the work is completed.

The council voted to rent the city concrete mixer to Mr. Bossert.

"BABE" ADAMS OLDEST PITCHER IN LEAGUES

Veteran Pittsburgh Twirler Holds Record in Years.

His Excellent Control and Knowledge of Opposing Batters Make Him One of the Most Valuable Hurlers in National League.

Charles "Babe" Adams, the veteran Pirate hurler, is the oldest pitcher in the major leagues today, in point of years of steady playing and age. Despite his age—he is thirty-seven years old—he seems to be improving with each year of playing, for he shows more control of the ball as one season hops the other.

For instance, last year he took part in 35 games, pitched 261 innings and permitted only 18 bases on balls, a little over one-half a pass per game. "Old Man Control," as he is referred to around the big circuit, faced 1037 batsmen during the season and permitted only one to every 58 to get to first base by the pass route. Even this was an improvement upon the previous year when he pitched to 1017 batters and walked 23. This is a record of 41 passes in two years or less than many a pitcher has for only half the season.

Only once during the entire season did Adams show any wildness at all. This was against the Giants when he was having an off day. He permitted three passes, one-sixth of his total for the entire year.

Adams' control and his knowledge of opposing batters made him one of the most valuable pitchers in the National league. He ranked next to Grover Cleveland Alexander in efficiency, allowing only 2.12 earned runs per game.

Back in 1909 Adams, almost single-handed, won the world's series for Pittsburgh, beating the Tigers in three games.

In 1920 Adams, besides his other achievements, also was high man for shutouts, with eight to his credit. Alexander was second with seven.

Dear Bill:

Here's some advance dope on the next Tri-City Athletic club Boxing Show, which is to be pulled off in Daly's Theatre, Thursday, April 14th, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Of course you know that BILLY DRISCOLL, the clever little lightweight who put Herzog into dreamy dreamland, at that Tri-City Boxing Show last January, after having showed us one of the cleverest bouts ever pulled off in the state, will be back here for the wind-up in this show. Craden, who is rated as Driscoll's equal in cleverness, speed and with a punch that would jar the Rock of Gibraltar, is booked up with Driscoll in the wind-up. And there is to be a preliminary and a semi-wind-up that will make you forget that the Trout Season opens May 1st.

NOW HERE'S THE DOPE:—The seats go on sale at Daly's Drug Store, Saturday morning, April 9th. I've been hearing around town that there will be a big advance demand for the seats, and I'm just tipping you off to be on hand there at nine bells, sharp, to get your ringside seats. A word to the early bird is usually sufficient. The wise man won't have to worm and squirm in his seat to see the fight, and then miss seeing the "haymaker".

AND SAY, I hear that a number of the ladies in town are going to this boxing show, too. So if the wife wants to go get her a seat, for there'll be plenty of company there for her.

Yours,

WOOD B. PUG.

Roberts, catcher of last season's squad is available with McDonald, one of the yearlings, as a substitute.

Barnsley, short stop and McConnell, third sacker, are returning this year, but Lambert has a number of good candidates for all of the infield positions. Standwood, White and Prescott, last year's outfielders, are all back and will probably retain their positions.

Worth Week Innovation.

We are adding a month, contributed by an anonymous lover of the silent drama, for the director who in arranging an interesting studio set shows the model as that the artist doesn't have to be a mind reader to see what it has been. We know that this innovation violates studio rules, but the director really ought to take the fan of physics into consideration or else use a telescope. It's charm.

Paint Screens With Sponge.

Wire screens can be painted more easily and with better results than by the customary method of painting with a brush if the paint is thinned and applied to the screen with an old sponge.—Edward B. Zolle, in Popular Mechanics.

"BABE" ADAMS OLDEST PITCHER IN LEAGUES

Veteran Pittsburgh Twirler Holds Record in Years.

His Excellent Control and Knowledge of Opposing Batters Make Him One of the Most Valuable Hurlers in National League.

Charles "Babe" Adams, the veteran Pirate hurler, is the oldest pitcher in the major leagues today, in point of years of steady playing and age. Despite his age—he is thirty-seven years old—he seems to be improving with each year of playing, for he shows more control of the ball as one season laps the other.

For instance, last year he took part in 35 games, pitched 263 innings and permitted only 18 bases on balls, a little over one-half a pass per game. "Old Man Control," as he is referred to around the big circuit, faced 1,035 batsmen during the season and permitted only one in every 58 to get to first base by the pass route. Even this was an improvement upon the previous year when he pitched to 1,017 batters and walked 23. This is a record of 41 passes in two years, or less than many a pitcher has for only half the season.

Only once during the entire season did Adams show any wildness at all. This was against the Giants when he was having an off day. He permitted three passes, one-sixth of his total for the entire year.

Adams' control and his knowledge of opposing batters made him one of the most valuable pitchers in the National league. He ranked next to Grover Cleveland Alexander in efficiency, allowing only 2.42 earned runs per game.

Back in 1909 Adams, almost single handed, won the world's series for Pittsburgh, beating the Tigers in three games.

In 1920 Adams, besides his other achievements, also was high man for shutouts, with eight to his credit. Alexander was second with seven.

Dear Bill:

Here's some advance dope on the next Tri-City Athletic club Boxing Show, which is to be pulled off in Daly's Theatre, Thursday, April 14th, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Of course you know that BILLY DRISCOLL, the clever little lightweight who put Herzog into dreamy dreamland, at that Tri-City Boxing Show last January, after having showed us one of the cleverest bouts ever pulled off in the state, will be back here for the wind-up in this show. Craden, who is rated as Driscoll's equal in cleverness, speed and with a punch that would jar the Rock of Gibraltar, is booked up with Driscoll in the wind-up. And there is to be a preliminary and a semi-wind-up that will make you forget that the Trout Season opens May 1st.

NOW HERE'S THE DOPE:—The seats go on sale at Daly's Drug Store, Saturday morning, April 9th. I've been hearing around town that there will be a big advance demand for the seats, and I'm just tipping you off to be on hand there at nine bells, sharp, to get your ringside seats. A word to the early bird is usually sufficient. The wise man won't have to worm and squirm in his seat to see the fight, and then miss seeing the "haymaker".

AND SAY, I hear that a number of the ladies in town are going to this boxing show, too. So if the wife wants to go get her a seat, for there'll be plenty of company there for her.

Yours,

WOOD B. PUG.

UNIMPORTANT BILLS PASSED AT MADISON

ASSEMBLY KILLS LABOR BILLS AND THE EDUCATIONAL BILLS HAVE NOT BEEN PASSED AS YET; PROHIBITION BILL UP

Madison, Wis.—The first three months of the present legislative session have produced no constructive legislation of importance, a survey of the 99 acts signed by the governor shows. With the exception of appropriation bills and one or two minor measures, the legislation passed is of minor local consequence.

Work of the session up to the present has been largely confined to killing labor and tax proposals and of postponing final action on other bills of particular importance. Both houses have spent their first 90 days in lining up and becoming more acquainted with their task.

Marketing Up Next

When the legislators return for the next leg of their session this coming week, they will commence consideration of marketing and education, two of their biggest problems, with taxation and reapportionment to be next in line. These measures will bring out the greatest amount of debate and will take up the time of the legislature more than any other.

The slow progress of legislation is lengthening out the session more than was anticipated and has given little hope that reapportionment can even be attempted before the other measures have been disposed of. A special session to complete the redistricting of the state is looked to.

Tax Bills Killed

Up to the present time tax bills involving the personal property offset and a raising in the income tax exemptions have been killed. A proposal for an automobile tax based on the value of the machine has been made to the joint finance committee, which also has two surtax proposals and an income tax bill under consideration.

Labor measures have practically all been killed by the assembly. Bills calling for an eight hour day have met death, as have a number of measures involving railroad labor, while a few proposals still remain to be acted on.

Prohibition has run the gauntlet in one house, but is stranded in the other and it may be more than a month before the final status of the Matheson bill can be established. The initiative and referendum in the form advocated by Governor Blaine has been killed by the senate, altho a substitute proposal which excludes the constitution from its provisions has been introduced and will be passed according to expression of senators who opposed the original resolution.

Educational Bills Unfinished

The big education proposals including reorganization of the state administrative system, the teachers' retirement fund and the junior college bill all remain to be considered by both houses. Similarly, marketing has hardly got under way in either house.

Some of the most interesting developments of the season are expected from the special legislative committee which will investigate boards and commissions with a view toward elimination and consolidation to bring about greater centralization of authority in the state government.

Speaker Young has not yet appointed the three assembly members to the committee, altho provided for a month ago. He will select representatives friendly to the present commissions to counter-balance the moves of the senate members, it is known.

Expect Long Session

The slow deliberate actions of both houses of the legislature point to a long session which is not expected to end before July. Unless there is a turn in the attitude of the members toward pending legislation a number of sharp floor divisions are expected with a very probable lack of agreement between the senate and assembly which will tend to prolong the session.

Vida, from the Erse language, is the feminine of David, and as such has the significance of "well beloved."

CARNIVAL WILL PEP UP TONIGHT

NO ADMISSION WILL BE CHARGED TO-NITE. SEASON TICKETS WILL BE GOOD FOR DANCE TICKETS

Tonight the admission for the carnival will be free of charge and all season tickets will be good for dancing the rest of the week. The threatening weather kept a good many last night but a good crowd is expected this evening. The dance was well attended and the crowd in general had a peppy evening.

Kids Chase Dollars

The kids had an evening of fun chasing dollars which were rolled down the floor. As many as twenty-five would line up and then on the word "go" would run, jump, and scramble for the much sought after dollar. Mr. Daniels bought a cake at auction for $5.00. The bidding for the cake was quite exciting and at times jumped a dollar a bid.

Prizes Won

Many prizes were won such as a ladies chepe du chin waist, a half ton of coal and many others too numerous to mention. A prize for fox trot was also given and was won by Miss Elma Gilbert, of Nekoosa and Hubert Stark of this city. James Peterson donated $5.00 and services for three nights. The carnival committee has designated Friday night as business men's night and a large crowd of business men are expected to attend. Abe Golstien and company, the Dizzy Four of the Saint Lawrence Club, will entertain tonite with musical numbers and a "chatter" act

CITIZENS WILL HAVE MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

WAR DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZES MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS FOR THOSE UNDER THIRTY FIVE

Offering to the youth of the nation a month of military instruction and carefully supervised physical training the War Department has practically completed plans for the establishment this summer of a number of Citizens' Military Training Camps throughout the entire country.

These camps, which are in furtherance of the policy of volunteer military training strongly endorsed by President Harding, will be so apportioned that any young man who is eligible to attend them may find one within reasonable distance of his home. The present plan allots at least one camp to each Corps Area.

No Personal Expense

Special emphasis will be laid by the War Department this year on the enrollment of candidates for the Camps giving basic which will be open to men up to thirty-five years of age who have had little or no military training and desire practical instruction in the field.

Attendance will be without cost to the candidate. Upon being accepted for enrollment he will proceed to the camp designated and upon his arrival will be reimbursed for the amount of his travelling expenses.

Army Instructors

All instructions will be given at permanently established camps where the candidate will find selected Regular Army instructors prepared to train in the elementary duties of a soldier. Physical training will occupy a permanent place in the program and Medical Officers, Chaplains and Hostesses will be in constant attendance. No educational qualifications are required but the applicant's intelligence must be such as will permit him to understand and obey commands.

Nine Corps Areas

Applications for the camps should be made to the Corps Area Commander in which the camp is located. The Headquarters of the Nine Corps Areas and the state allotted to them are as follows: First Corps Areas, Boston, Mass., Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut; Second Corps Area, Governor Island N. Y., New York, New Jersey and Delaware; Third Corps Area, Ft. Howard, Mo., Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and District of Columbia; Fourth Corps Area, Ft. McPherson, Ga.; North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana; Fifth Corps Area, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Kentucky; Sixth Corps Area, Ft. Sheridan, Ill., Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin; Seventh Corps Area Ft. Crook, Nebr. North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas; Eighth Corps Area, Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Texas; Ninth Corps Area, Presidio, San Francisco, Calif. California Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and Utah.

No definite date has been set for the opening of the Camps but it will not be earlier than July 15th or later than August 10th.

PRACTICALLY ALL OF WOOL CROP IS SOLD

Madison—About four-fifths of the wool pooled in Wisconsin has been sold, a market division news letter reports today, although most or the best grades remain in the hands of the growers. Prices received for the pooled wool were between 23 and 27 cents a pound which is more than most farmers received when they sold their crop to local dealers, the report says. Plans for handling the 1921 crop under the consideration.

But a small per cent of the state's honey remains in the hands of beekeepers according to the division, although the parket at this time is dull with little stock moving. Bottlers and other large buyers are demanding little honey and are offering prices that beekeepers will not consider.

Practically three-fourths of the last crop of 4,692,000 pounds is extracted and the other fourth comb honey. The average yield of the 72-000 working colonies was 65.2 pounds in 1920 as compared to 53.7 in 1919.

SCHOOL BOYS WILL HAVE TRAINING CAMP

Following the invitation of Superintendent Mortenson of the Chicago Public Schools to all boys of this city to attend the military-physical training camp at Muskegan, Michigan, comes the announcement that eighth grade subjects will be added to the summer school course at that camp.

Captain F. L. Beals, Commandant, states that so many younger boys in the Scoutcraft Division have made inquiries regarding school work that he has arranged with Principal Charles H. Smith of the Camp Roosevelt Summer High School to include eighth grade work. The teachers who will have charge of this instruction will be especially selected from the Chicago public schools because of their fitness for this work.

Captain Beals is delivering illustrated lectures in the Chicago schools thereby enabling boys and parents to obtain a comprehensive idea of what Camp Roosevelt stands for. That it is doing a great work for the lads of the entire United States is attested by public spirited men who are supporting the Camp Roosevelt Idea, and backing it to the fullest extent.

Be careful what you hate and what you praise. The son learns from his father what to admire and what to despise.

HEART OF WISCONSIN NEWS

MILLADORE HOLSTEIN CLUB IS ORGANIZED

The Holstein Breeders in the vicinity of Milladore gathered at Geber's hall last Thursday and with the assistance of County Agent R. A. Peterson, organized the Milladore Holstein Club or the Wood County Holstein Breeders' Association. John Schmutzer was elected President of the club and Chas. Feit, Secretary-Treasurer. The two directors will be elected at a later date. Fourteen of the breeders signed up as members. The feeling was common that this number could easily be doubled.

A general discussion followed, having to do with the needs of the community relative to its livestock interests, touching upon pure-bred sires, females for foundation stock, tuberculosis eradication, sale of cattle and a local Holstein picnic in the summer. The Calf Club proposition was also discussed and prospects for the development of a Milladore club were excellent.

The next meeting will be held in Geber's hall in Milladore at 7:30 p. m., on Thursday, April 14th.

NEPCOS HAVE FAST INDOOR LINEUP READY

The Marathon team has been beating the best around Wausau but the Nepcos say that they are a different proposition than any of the Wausau aggregations and will win the game Saturday night. A dance will be given after the game in the Auditorium.

The lineup of the Nepcos is as follows:

Catcher—Ed. Patrenets.
Pitcher—Chas. White.
First base—R. LeRoux.
Second base—F. Domke.
Third base—W. Hinz.
Shortstop—O. LeRoux, captain and manager.

Center field—N. Brennan.

$2,000,000 LOANED TO STRICKEN FARMERS

Fargo, N. D.—Authorization by congress of $2,000,000 in seed loans to drouth stricken farmers of the northwest during the closing days of the Sixty-sixth congress was something new in federal legislation, according to M. O. Hall, who worked for passage of the act. Opposition was raised in congress on the ground that the measure would establish a government policy of loaning money directly to private individuals.

"You can't do it," "Uncle Joe" Cannon ex-speaker of the house told Mr. Hall, according to the latter. "I'm the oldest man here and I have never seen such a thing done." The bill passed however with Mr. Cannon voting "yes".

Mr. Hall, founder of the town of Mohall, N. D., came for his home in San Diego, Cal., when he heard of the plight of farmers in sections of his old state. His work, both in this state and in Washington, was largely responsible for passage of the loan measure, according to Senator E. F. Ladd of North Dakota.

EASY TO BANISH THE "BLUES"

Undue Despondency Can Be Cured by Attention to Diet and Cultivation of Optimism.

A fit of the "blues" is as much an intoxication as a drunken spree, and a bad attack may disqualify a person for wise and efficient action as thoroughly as alcoholic intoxication.

A person subject to the "blues" should in his most lucid and optimistic moments resolve to make no important decision, and to set a special guard over his conduct, while under the influence of the flood of poisons to which the condition is due.

The real cure for the "blues" lies in prevention by removing causes.

The foul breath and coated tongue noted in these cases are abundant evidence of the poisonous origin of the "blues." The adoption of a poison-free diet is almost invariably followed quickly by a change in the mental state.

It is important, then, that we cultivate optimism and forcing the mind into optimistic channels of thought.

This can best be accomplished by reading optimistic authors and talking with optimistic people. An excellent plan is to set oneself the task of curing some other neurasthenic suffering from his pessimism, by deluging him with optimistic ideas and expressions.

Adopt a diet that will introduce poison-free foods into the dietary and assist the elimination organs in carrying out as rapidly as possible the poisons that may be formed in the natural body functions. These things are not miraculous, but can be adopted into one's daily life with the utmost ease.

Carrier Pigeons in Warfare.

The use of carrier pigeons is very ancient in the Orient and was brought to the attention of Europe at the time of the First crusade, when the Saracens were found to have the birds in regular use for the conveyance of information. The Christian commanders employed falcons to chase and intercept this pigeon post on several occasions, and on others caught the tired birds, substituted misleading messages for those they were carrying, and sent them on to deceive the enemy. The Mohammedan sovereign Nureddin used carrier pigeons for welding together the scattered parts of his empire. Although the use continued, it was not until the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 that pigeons were again of conspicuous public service. During the siege of Paris constant communication was maintained between the besieged city and the outside world by means of the carrier birds. Subsequently the German, French and other European governments established regular pigeon corps and thousands of birds were trained and kept for use as messengers.

ZEALOUS OPPONENT OF DYES

Objection Made by English Quaker Was That They Led to Concealment of Dirt.

John Woolman, the Quaker, refused to wear any clothing that had been dyed. He carried his scruples so far that he wore a hat that was of the natural color of the fur, thereby presenting, as one of his biographers remarks, the aspect of a sort of Robinson Crusoe. One of John Woolman's objections to dyes was that they concealed dirt. Traveling often in wet weather through narrow streets, he was frequently distressed by various impurities—especially when his journeys took him to places where cloth had been dyed, so that at sundry times he had to "walk over ground where much of their dyestuffs has drained away." This produced in his mind a great longing "that people might come into cleanness of spirit, cleanness of person and cleanness about their houses and garments." As a further reason against dyes he argued that the spirit that would hide dirt leads to the concealment of anything that may be materially or morally disagreeable, and is therefore contrary to sincerity. He contended that if the money spent on dyeing were devoted to the promotion of cleanliness much good in every way would result.

The examining physicians were Dr. A. A. Pleyte, of the staff of the state Anti-Tuberculosis association, and Dr. W. J. Lockhart, of the Winnebago county sanatorium, assisted by Miss Dorothy Durbin, of the state association, and other nurses. Hundreds of people from Door and Kewaunee counties were examined.

Finger Prints of Everyone.

The Argentines have carried the use of finger prints further than perhaps any other nation, writes Harry A. Franck in the Century Magazine. Even school children taking formal examinations must decorate their papers with thumb print as a protection against forgery. Both photograph and "cedula" are produced by a well-trained public staff in well-arranged public offices, in which the prints of all ten fingers of the applicant are filed away under the number inscribed on his "libreto" (identification papers—every citizen of Buenos Aires has a booklet of identification), and where courteous attendants bring him into contact with the lavatory facilities which he requires before again displaying his hands to a pulchritudinous public.

Emmerson, secretary of state; and S. A. Bradt, superintendent of public highways. Others in the official party will include the 32 members of the senate highway committee.

Inspection of Wisconsin roads, especially the method of gravel surfacing and patrol maintenance, will be the purpose of the visit. The party will arrive at Beloit April 15 and will be met by members of the senate and assembly committee on highways of Wisconsin, members of the highway commission, Mr. Hirst, and members of his staff.

They will tour from Beloit over Walworth county, swinging back through Jefferson county to Madison. Friday evening a dinner in honor of the guests will be given in Madison, at which Governor John J. Blaine will welcome the visitors.

"EATS LIKE TIGER," SAYS WISCONSIN RAPIDS RESIDENT

"I feel a 100 per cent better today than I have in a good long time," said Clarence Wellner, well known resident of Wisconsin Rapids, last week. "Until I took Kozak my stomach was in fierce shape. Everything I ate, particularly meat and rich foods, formed gas and caused bloating and pain. I got so bad that I had no desire for food. Noticed too, that I was losing sleep and lacked energy.

"Now I eat like a tiger, my food digests properly, never causing any pain or distress and I feel so much more vigorous Yes, I can sleep much better. Two bottles of Kozak have accomplished wonders but I am now taking the third to be sure I am cured." Explained and sold exclusively by Sam Church the druggist, In Amherst, Boynton & Son.

MILLADORE HOLSTEIN CLUB IS ORGANIZED

The Holstein Breeders in the vicinity of Milladore gathered at Geber's hall last Thursday and with the assistance of County Agent R. A. Peterson, organized the Milladore Holstein Club of the Wood County Holstein Breeders' Association. John Schmutzer was elected President of the club and Chas. Felt, Secretary-Treasurer. The two directors will be elected at a later date. Fourteen of the breeders signed up as members. The feeling was common that this number could easily be doubled.

A general discussion followed, having to do with the needs of the community relative to its livestock interests, touching upon pure-bred sires, females for foundation stock, tuberculosis eradication, sale of cattle and a local Holstein picnic in the summer. The Calf Club proposition was also discussed and prospects for the development of a Milladore club were excellent.

The next meeting will be held in Geber's hall in Milladore at 7:30 p. m., on Thursday, April 14th.

The Wreckers

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright by Chas. Scribner's Sons

"It's probably that cow-boy spotter of Norcross', but he can't get away." Hatch was gritting—meaning Tarbell, probably. "The gates are locked and we can plug him if he tries to climb the fence. There's a gun in the scale-house. You two look under these cars while I go and get it!"

It was up to me to move again. Henckel was striking matches and holding them so that Clanahan could look under the cars, and I could feel, in anticipation, the shock of a bullet from the big gun in the divekeeper's fat fist as I crawled cautiously out on the far side. Creeping along behind the string of coal cars I came presently to the great gantry crane used for unloading the fuel. It was a huge traveling machine, straddling the tracks and a good part of the yard, and the clam-shell grab-bucket was down, resting on its two lips on the ground.

At first I thought of climbing to the frame-work of the crane and trying to hide on the big bridge beam. Then I saw that the two halves of the clam-shell bucket were slightly open, just wide enough to let me squeeze in. If they were looking for a full-sized man—Tarbell, for instance, who was as husky as a farm-hand—they'd never think of that crack in the bucket; and in another second I had wriggled through the V-shaped opening and was sitting humped up in one of the halves of the clam-shell.

That was a mighty good guess. When Hatch came back with his gun, they combed that coal yard with a fine-tooth comb, using a lantern that Hatch had gotten from somewhere and missing no hole or corner where a man might hide, save and excepting only the one I had pre-empted.

As it happened, the search wound up finally under the crane, with the three standing so near that I could have reached out of the crack between the bucket halves and touched them.

"Der. tuyfel has gone mit himself ofer-der-fence, yes?" puffed Henckel. And then: "Vot for iss he shoot off dem pistols, ennahow?"

Clanahan confessed, I suppose because he knew he would have to, sooner or later.

"It was a hold-up," he growled. "Th' warrant's gone out av my pocket."

Hatch's comment on this was fairly blood-curdling in its profanity.

"Then it's up to you to get him some other way, you blundering son of a thief!" he raged. "I don't care what you do, but if you don't make this country too hot to hold him, it's going to get too hot to hold you!" And what more he was going to say, I don't know, for at that moment a belated police patrol began pounding at the gates on the town side and wanting to know what all the shooting was about.

It was after they had all gone away, leaving the big coal yard in silence and darkness, that I got mine, good and hard. Sitting all bunched up in the grab-bucket and waiting for my chance to climb out and make a get-away, the common sense reaction came and saw what I had done. With the best intentions in the world, in trying to kill off the chance offered to the enemy by the Oregon warrant and the trumped-up charge of murder, I had merely saved the boss an arrest and a possible legal tangle and had put him in peril of his life.

CHAPTER X

The Man at the Window

Of course, the first thing I did, the morning after that adventure in the coal yard, was to tell the boss all about it, and I was just foxy enough to do it when Mr. Ripley was present. Mr. Norcross didn't say much; and, for that matter, neither did the lawyer, though he did ask the boss a question or two about the real facts in the Midland right-of-way squabble.

But I noticed, after that, that our man Tarbell was continually turning up at all sorts of times, and in all sorts of odd places, so I took it that Ripley had given him his tip, and that he was sort of body-guarding Mr. Norcross on the quiet, though I am sure the boss didn't know anything about that part of it—he was such a square fighter himself that he probably wouldn't have stood for it if he had.

Meanwhile, things grew warmer and warmer in the tussle we were making to pull the old Short Line out of the mud; warmer in a number of ways, because, in addition to the fight for the public confidence, we began just then to have a perfect epidemic of wrecks.

The boss turned the material trouble over to Mr. Van Britt and devoted himself pretty strictly to the public side of things. Everywhere, and on every occasion—at dinners at the different chambers of commerce, and public banquets given to this, that, or the other visiting big-wig—he was always ready to get on his feet and tell the people that the true prosperity of the country carried with it the prosperity of the railroads; that the two things were one and inseparable; and that, when it came right down to basic facts, the railroads were really a part of the progress machinery of the country at large and should be regarded, not as alien tax-collectors, but as contributors to the general prosperity and welfare.

By this time, also, Red Tower Consolidated was beginning to find out what it meant to have active competition. The C. S. & W. people were hammering their new plants into working shape, and they were getting the patronage, both of the producers and consumers, hand over fist. Track facilities and yard service were granted freely; and while no discrimination was permitted as against the Red Tower people, the friendly attitude of the road counted for something, as it was bound to.

During those few pre-election weeks the New York end of us seemed to have petered out completely. We heard nothing more from President Dunton, worse than an occasional wire complaint about the number of wrecks we were having, though the stock was still going down, point by point, and, so far as a man up a tree could see, we were making no attempt to show net earnings—were turning all our money into betterments as fast as it came in. I knew that couldn't go on. Without a flurry of some sort, the New Yorkers would never be able to break even, to say nothing of a profit, and I looked every day for a howl that would tear things straight up the back.

While all these threads were weaving along, I'm sorry to say that I hadn't yet drummed up the courage to tell the boss the truth about Mrs. Sheila. He kept on going to the major's every chance he had, and Maisie Ann was making life miserable for me because I hadn't told him—calling me a coward and everything under the sun. I told her to tell him herself, and she retorted that I knew she couldn't: that it was my job and nobody else's. We fussed over it a lot; and because I most always contrived some excuse to chase out to the Kendrick house at the boss' heels—merely to help Tarbell keep cases on him—there were plenty of chances for the fussing.

It was on one of these chasing trips to "Kenwood" that the roof fell in. The major had gone out somewhere—to the theater, I guess—taking his wife and Maisie Ann, and the boss and Mrs. Sheila were sitting together in the major's den, with a little coal blaze in the basket grate because the nights were beginning to get a bit chilly.

I had butted in with a telegram—which might just as well have stood over until the next morning, if you want to know. After I had delivered it, Mrs. Sheila gave me that funny little laugh of hers and told me to go hunt in the pantry and see if I could find a piece of pie, and the boss added that if I'd wait, he'd go back to town with me pretty soon.

I found the pie, and ate it in the dining-room, making noise enough about it so that they could know I was there if they wanted to. But they went right on talking, and paid no attention to me.

"Do you know, Sheila,"—they had long since got past the "Mr." and "Mrs."—"you've been the greatest possible help to me in this rough house, all the way along," the boss was saying. "You have held me up to the rack, time and again, when I have been ready to throw it all up and let go. Why have you done it?"

I heard the little laugh again, and she said: "It is worth something to have a friend. Odd as it may seem, Graham, I have been singularly poverty-stricken in that respect. And I have wanted to see you succeed. Though you are still calling it merely a 'business deal,' it is really a mission, you know, crammed full of good things to a struggling world. If you do succeed—and I am sure you are going to—you will leave this community, and hundreds of others, vastly the better for what you are doing and demonstrating."

"But that is a man's point of view," the boss persisted. "How do you get it? You are all woman, you know; and your mixing and mingling—at least, since I have known you—has all been purely social. How do you get the big overlook?"

"I don't know. I was foolish and frivolous once, like most young girls, I suppose. But we all grow older; and we ought to grow wiser. Besides, the women has the advantage of the man in one respect, she has time to think and plan and ponder things out as a busy man can't have. Your problem has seemed to me simple to me from the very beginning. It seems to me a strong man and an honest one. You were to take charge of a piece of property that had been allowed to run down and used as a means to an end by profiteers, and you were to make it good."

"Yes, that is a man's point of view," she protested quickly. "There is no sex in ethics. Women are the natural home-makers, perhaps, and that isn't saying that a man can't be one, too, if he wants to."

At this, the boss got up and began to pace up and down the room; I could hear him. I knew about how it was with the business. Hill was trying to force Ripley and me out of the control, which, of course, we were doing her the best we could, but apparently she had been doing it, since early fall. There wasn't the smallest speck of sentiment in the deal; not the smallest speck. When he began again, I could see how he felt that she was just as fine to play a game against as she was to make a home for a man.

BUTTER MARKET REMAINS WEAK

BUYERS SHOW INDEPENDENCE; NECESSARY TO LOWER PRICES ON BUTTER TO DO BUSINESS

(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

The advances in the local butter market the past few days, effected the demand, or rather tended to the increase in receipts. With more stock around buyers showed independence, and excepting for really fine extras, it was necessary to lower prices to do business, especially when the sharp New York break war received. Receipts also holding up well, there being 6,716 tubs in.

The egg market continues rather quiet where cash transactions are concerned due to the trouble that exists between dealers and egg candlers. Shorts recovering freely and 151 cars were worked at prices ranging ½@½c higher. Local receipts were 20,570 cases.

The cheese market continues easy and prices without change. Offerings large and in the main neglected.

Live poultry steady at former prices. Receipts 2 cars of freight stock and fair express runs.

Potatoes weak and 5 cents lower. Receipts 31 cars, and there were 1051 cars in the different freight yards.

The Wreckers

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright by Chas. Scribner's Sons

"It's probably that cow-boy spotter of Norcross', but he can't get away." Hatch was gritting—meaning Tarbell, probably. "The gates are locked and we can plug him if he tries to climb the fence. There's a gun in the scale-house. You two look under these cars while I go and get it!"

It was up to me to move again. Henckel was striking matches and holding them so that Clanahan could look under the cars, and I could feel, in anticipation, the shock of a bullet from the big gun in the divekeeper's fat fist as I crawled cautiously out on the far side. Creeping along behind the string of coal cars I came presently to the great gantry crane used for unloading the fuel. It was a huge traveling machine, straddling the tracks and a good part of the yard, and the clam-shell grab-bucket was down, resting on its two lips on the ground.

At first I thought of climbing to the frame-work of the crane and trying to hide on the big bridge beam. Then I saw that the two halves of the clam-shell bucket were slightly open, just wide enough to let me squeeze in. If they were looking for a full-sized man—Tarbell, for instance, who was as husky as a farm-hand—they'd never think of that crack in the bucket; and in another second I had wriggled through the V-shaped opening and was sitting humped up in one of the halves of the clam-shell.

That was a mighty good guess. When Hatch came back with his gun, they combed that coal yard with a fine-tooth comb, using a lantern that Hatch had gotten from somewhere and missing no hole or corner where a man might hide, save and excepting only the one I had pre-empted.

As it happened, the search wound up finally under the crane, with the three standing so near that I could have reached out of the crack between the bucket halves and touched them.

"Der tuyfel has gone mit himself ofer der fence, yes?" puffed Henckel. And then: "Vot for iss he shoot off dem pistols, ennahow?"

Clanahan confessed, I suppose because he knew he would have to, sooner or later.

"It was a hold-up," he growled. "Th' warrant's gone out av my pocket."

Hatch's comment on this was fairly blood-curdling in its profanity.

"Then it's up to you to get him some other way, you blundering son of a thief!" he raged. "I don't care what you do, but if you don't make this country too hot to hold him, it's going to get too hot to hold you!" And what more he was going to say, I don't know, for at that moment a belated police patrol began pounding at the gates on the town side and wanting to know what all the shooting was about.

It was after they had all gone away, leaving the big coal yard in silence and darkness, that I got mine, good and hard. Sitting all bunched up in the grab-bucket and waiting for my chance to climb out and make a getaway, the common sense reaction came and saw what I had done. With the best intentions in the world, in trying to kill off the chance offered to the enemy by the Oregon warrant and the trumped-up charge of murder, I had merely saved the boss an arrest and a possible legal tangle and had put him in peril of his life.

CHAPTER X

The Man at the Window

Of course, the first thing I did, the morning after that adventure in the coal yard, was to tell the boss all about it, and I was just foxy enough to do it when Mr. Ripley was present. Mr. Norcross didn't say much; and, for that matter, neither did the lawyer, though he did ask the boss a question or two about the real facts in the Midland right-of-way squabble.

But I noticed, after that, that car man Tarbell was continually turning up at all sorts of times, and in all sorts of odd places, so I took it that Ripley had given him his tip, and that he was sort of body-guarding Mr. Norcross on the quiet, though I am sure the boss didn't know anything about that part of it—he was such a square fighter himself that he probably wouldn't have stood for it if he had.

Meanwhile, things grew warmer and warmer in the tussle we were making to pull the old Short Line out of the mud; warmer in a number of ways, because, in addition to the fight for the public confidence, we began just then to have a perfect epidemic of wrecks.

The boss turned the material trouble over to Mr. Van Britt and devoted himself pretty strictly to the public side of things. Everywhere, and on every occasion—at dinners at the different chambers of commerce, and public banquets given to this, that, or the other visiting big-wig—he was always ready to get on his feet and tell the people that the true prosperity of the country carried with it the prosperity of the railroads; that the two things were one and inseparable; and that, when it came right down to basic facts, the railroads were really a part of the progress machinery of the country at large and should be regarded, not as alien tax-collectors, but as contributors to the general prosperity and welfare.

By this time, also, Red Tower Consolidated was beginning to find out what it meant to have active competition. The C. S. & W. people were hammering their new plants into working shape, and they were getting the patronage, both of the producers and consumers, hand over fist. Track facilities and yard service were granted freely; and while no discrimination was permitted as against the Red Tower people, the friendly attitude of the road counted for something, as it was bound to.

During those few pre-election weeks the New York end of us seemed to have petered out completely. We heard nothing more from President Dunton, worse than an occasional wire complaint about the number of wrecks we were having, though the stock was still going down, point by point, and, so far as a man up a tree could see, we were making no attempt to show net earnings—were turning all our money into betterments as fast as it came in. I knew that couldn't go on. Without a flurry of some sort, the New Yorkers would never be able to break even, to say nothing of a profit, and I looked every day for a howl that would tear things straight up the back.

While all these threads were weaving along, I'm sorry to say that I hadn't yet drummed up the courage to tell the boss the truth about Mrs. Sheila. He kept on going to the major's every chance he had, and Maisie Ann was making life miserable for me because I hadn't told him—calling me a coward and everything under the sun. I told her to tell him herself, and she retorted that I knew she couldn't: that it was my job and nobody else's. We fussed over it a lot; and because I most always contrived some excuse to chase out to the Kendrick house at the boss' heels—merely to help Tarbell keep cases on him—there were plenty of chances for the fussing.

It was on one of these chasing trips to "Kenwood" that the roof fell in. The major had gone out somewhere—to the theater, I guess—taking his wife and Maisie Ann, and the boss and Mrs. Sheila were sitting together in the major's den, with a little coal blaze in the basket grate because the nights were beginning to get a bit chilly.

I had butted in with a telegram—which might just as well have stood over until the next morning, if you want to know. After I had delivered it, Mrs. Sheila gave me that funny little laugh of hers and told me to go hunt in the pantry and see if I could find a piece of pie, and the boss added that if I'd wait, he'd go back to town with me pretty soon.

I found the pie, and ate it in the dining-room, making noise enough about it so that they could know I was there if they wanted to. But they went right on talking, and paid no attention to me.

"Do you know, Sheila,"—they had long since got past the "Mr." and "Mrs."—"you've been the greatest possible help to me in this rough-house, all the way along." the boss was saying. "You have held me up to the rack, time and again, when I have been ready to throw it all up and let go. Why have you done it?"

I heard the little laugh again, and she said: "It is worth something to have a friend. Odd as it may seem, Graham, I have been singularly poverty-stricken in that respect. And I have wanted to see you succeed. Though you are still calling it merely a 'business deal,' it is really a mission, you know, crammed full of good things to a struggling world. If you do succeed—and I am sure you are going to—you will leave this community, and hundreds of others, vastly the better for what you are doing and demonstrating."

"But that is a man's point of view," the boss persisted. "How do you get it? You are all woman, you know; and your mixing and mingling—at least, since I have known you—has all been purely social. How do you get the big overlook?"

"I don't know. I was foolish and frivolous once, like most young girls, I suppose. But we all grow older, and we might to grow wiser. Besides, the woman has the advantage of the man in one respect; she has time to think and plan and reason things out as a busy man can't have. Your problem has seemed very simple to me, from the very beginning. It asked for a strong man and an honest one. You were to take charge of a piece of property that had been abused and knocked about and used as a means of extortion and oppression, and you were to make it good."

"Again, that is a man's point of view."

"Oh, no," she protested quickly. "There is no sex in ethics. Women are the natural housecleaners, perhaps, but that isn't saying that a man can't be one, too, if he wants to be."

At this, the boss got up and began to tramp up and down the room; I could hear him. I knew she'd been having the biggest kind of a job to keep him shut up in this sort of abstract corral, when all the time he was loving her fit to kill, but apparently she had been doing it successfully. There wasn't the faintest breath of sentiment in the air; not the slightest whiff. When she began again, I could somehow feel that she was just as fine to prevent his breaking out into all sorts of love-making.

BUTTER MARKET REMAINS WEAK

(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

The advances in the local butter market the past few days, effected the demand, or rather tended to the increase in receipts. With more stock around buyers showed independence, and excepting for really fine extras, it was necessary to lower prices to do business, especially when the sharp New York break war received. Receipts also holding up well, there being 6,716 tubs in.

The egg market continues rather quiet where cash transactions are concerned due to the trouble that exists between dealers and egg candlers. Shorts recovering freely and 151 cars were worked at prices ranging ½@½c higher. Local receipts were 20,570 cases.

The cheese market continues easy and prices without change. Offerings large and in the main neglected.

Live poultry steady at former prices. Receipts 2 cars of freight stock and fair express runs.

Potatoes weak and 5 cents lower. Receipts 31 cars, and there were 134 cars in the different freight yards.

U. S. Briggs, President.

CITY WAITS TO BE CLOTHED

Jerusalem Far From Being Restored to the Glory That Has Been Promised Her.

The view of Jerusalem as one leaves the Garden of Gethsemane draws the heart with sympathy. The walls rise severely above bare slopes where nothing grows, for it is outside of the city proper that Biblical prophecies of the desolation of Jerusalem seem to be fulfilled.

Today the city stands midway between the horrors of the Turkish regime and the promised good of the British mandatory rule. Nothing has been done as yet in a public way to beautify the city. North and west the houses straggle outside the walls; on the south forbidding slopes border the road to Bethlehem, and on the east lies the terrible Valley of Jehoshaphat—a valley of dry bones, William D. McCracken writes in Asia Magazine.

Seventeen times destroyed—bitterly hated, anxiously sought—how desperate a history since Nebuchadnezzar captured it more than 25 centuries ago!

Redeemed today, but in her nakedness, Jerusalem waits to be clothed. She has as yet no grace; no covering for her ugly wounds. Some day her sides will glisten with the brightness of a heavenly radiance; she will be washed and anointed like a bride waiting for the bridegroom.

NOT REALLY A DEFORMITY

Young Housewife Had Something to Learn Concerning the Physical Structure of a Duck.

They dined out the other evening with some friends, where roast duck was the principal dish. Husband seemed to enjoy it so much that the little bride decided to surprise him with a similar treat at their next day's dinner, although she had never cooked one in her life.

The next morning when the duck arrived she proceeded to finish the cleaning, when suddenly she stopped and going to the telephone, she called up the butcher and told him she wanted some one to come after that duck right away, as she would not keep it.

"Why?" asked the butcher.

"Because it is deformed," she replied, "and I could not eat a single mouthful."

"But," said the perplexed man, "I personally cleaned that duck, and I thought at the time I had never seen a finer one. Just where is it deformed?"

"Why," she said, "on its windpipe is a hard growth that looks just like a shell."

As soon as the choking butcher could control his voice he called back: "Heavens, woman, that is the thing it quacks with."

Cadets' Great Ride.

Two hundred and fifty senior cadets of Victoria, B. C., have recently completed a 1,400-mile ride on bicycles, bearing dispatches from the state commandant to the minister for defense. The small riders averaged more than 14 miles an hour, and they completed their task 6 hours and 25 minutes ahead of schedule. This fine performance roused public interest in the new system of cadet training, which has taken the place of the monotonous drill-yard evolutions. Australia is training its youngest soldiers in camaraderie, self-sacrifice, alertness and a love of athletics. The story of the 1,400-mile ride against unexpected obstacles has set a standard which will not be easily forgotten by the Australian boy. While the dispatch ride has done much to direct attention to a happier system of training, it has also served to awaken the interest of fathers and elder brothers.

Eggs From the Orient.

A train of 25 cars, loaded entirely with Japanese and Chinese eggs, left Vancouver, B. C., the other day, bound for New York. The train was made up of nine carloads sent over from Seattle to be attached to sixteen carloads of eggs from the steamer Empress of Russia. The eggs from Seattle were delivered by Japanese liners. The eggs, with the exception of 1,500 cases for London, England, and 1,000 cases for Montreal, were all consigned to New York. The shipment to the latter point consisted of approximately 17,500 cases of 30 and 36 dozen each, or about 6,500,000, more than an egg for breakfast for every man, woman and child in New York city.

Economy Carried to Excess.

A short time ago, on seeing a man who was sitting beside me in a cafeteria "get away" with a large hamburger sandwich in three bites, all "mind your own business" policies were cast aside and I remarked, "You must intend to catch an out-of-town train; you are in such a hurry."

He came back with, "Oh, no. You see every one's stomach requires a certain amount of meat and it is known that by gulping it it takes longer to digest. As meat is high I eat this way and by so doing I have to eat meat but every third day."—Exchange.

Past the Academic Stage.

"Should women smoke?" asked the man who likes to theorize.

"That isn't the question any longer," said Mr. Gadspur.

"No?"

"What we've got to decide now is whether or not the additional fire risk caused by women smokers will justify the insurance companies in raising their rates."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HONOR SHOULD BE AMERICA'S

Washington Man Really Was the Frst to Demonstrate Possibilities of Wireless Telegraphy.

A dentist living in Washington, D. C., invented, patented and demonstrated wireless telegraphy before Marconi was born. Had it not been for the attitude of big newspapers and the stubbornness and lack of vision of congress, this country today would be enjoying the honor, distinction and credit of presenting wireless telegraphy to the world. The name of this comparatively unknown inventive genius is Mahlon Loomis. Back in the sixties and seventies he eked out a modest living by plugging molars and making "store" teeth for the politicians and social leaders of Washington. Doctor Loomis called his discovery "aerial telegraphy." His first public demonstration was made in 1866 from the two peaks of the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia, some 18 miles apart. From each peak an ordinary kite was elevated, connected with an insulated copper wire attached at the lower end to a telegraphing apparatus. The operators of each party were provided with telescopes, with which they could sight from one station to the other and read the signals. When all was in readiness a message was sent by the doctor along the wire of his kite, and was received at the station on the other mountain top just as though the two kites had been connected with a wire in the ordinary way. In this manner communications were kept up until the fact was thoroughly demonstrated that telegraphing could be done as readily without as with connecting wires.

DOG RELAYS CALL OF 'PHONE

Well-Trained Animal Said Never to Make a Mistake in Notifying His Mistress.

Not far from Boston lives a dog by the name of Timbuctoo, a dog which has never been trained but which of its own accord acquired a "trick" which besides being clever is decidedly helpful. His home is on a farm, which is served by a seven-party telephone line. The call at Timbuctoo's house is five bells, or as the toll operator would say, "Ring five." Wherever his mistress is when the telephone rings five times Timbuctoo will go to her and give five short, sharp barks. He has never been known to make a mistake either by barking more or less than five barks, or by calling his mistress when the bell rings some other call.

In order to "show off Timbuctoo," his mistress asks a neighbor to call her in a few minutes, then she goes somewhere out of range of the telephone, and Timbuctoo never fails to give proof of his trustworthy summoning.

BURIED WITH THEIR HUSBAND

Wives of Members of the Barau Tribe of the Congo Are Interred With the Corpse.

The Barua tribe in the Congo district of Africa have a number of strange and horrible customs, but of them all their burial customs are the most terrible. When a man dies a large grave is dug. The corpse and his wives—these may be anywhere from two to twenty—are escorted to the hole with wild music and the interested attendance of the entire tribe. The chief wife is thrust into the hole, and the corpse is then lowered. The second wife follows. The dead man's relatives then proceed to break the arms and legs of the two wives so they cannot get out of the hole. The head of the corpse is placed in the lap of the head wife, and the feet in the lap of the second wife.

The rest of the wives are then thrust into the hole, their limbs broken, and they are forced to sit in a circle about the corpse and its human supporters. The priest chants a few words, and everyone falls to with rude shovels, dishing earth into the hole. They never stop until the grave is full and the corpse and the living wives buried far under the earth. The howls of the wives with their broken limbs and fear of the terrible death are drowned by the banging of drums and the yells of the delighted tribe.

The photographic memory is found most commonly in actors and actresses, who have a study of variety of parts in a very short time. After a time they form a habit of getting a mental photo of the words. They look at the page, read the lines, and then, shutting their eyes, endeavor to "see" the words. It is a habit which if once formed, is swiftly developed.

Well-developed reasoning faculties are possessed by those persons who have thumbs, the second point of which are long, it is said.

CITY WAITS TO BE CLOTHED

Jerusalem Far From Being Restored to the Glory That Has Been Promised Her.

The view of Jerusalem as one leaves the Garden of Gethsemane draws the heart with sympathy. The walls rise severely above bare slopes where nothing grows, for it is outside of the city proper that Biblical prophecies of the desolation of Jerusalem seem to be fulfilled.

Today the city stands midway between the horrors of the Turkish regime and the promised good of the British mandatory rule. Nothing has been done as yet in a public way to beautify the city. North and west the houses straggle outside the walls; on the south forbidding slopes border the road to Bethlehem, and on the east lies the terrible Valley of Jehoshaphat—a valley of dry bones, William D. McCracken writes in Asia Magazine.

Seventeen times destroyed—bitterly hated, anxiously sought—how desperate a history since Nebuchadnezzar captured it more than 25 centuries ago!

Redeemed today, but in her nakedness, Jerusalem waits to be clothed. She has as yet no grace; no covering for her ugly wounds. Some day her sides will glisten with the brightness of a heavenly radiance; she will be washed and anointed like a bride waiting for the bridegroom.

NOT REALLY A DEFORMITY

Young Housewife Had Something to Learn Concerning the Physical Structure of a Duck.

They dined out the other evening with some friends, where roast duck was the principal dish. Husband seemed to enjoy it so much that the little bride decided to surprise him with a similar treat at their next day's dinner, although she had never cooked one in her life.

The next morning when the duck arrived she proceeded to finish the cleaning, when suddenly she stopped and going to the telephone, she called up the butcher and told him she wanted some one to come after that duck right away, as she would not keep it.

"Why?" asked the butcher.

"Because it is deformed," she replied, "and I could not eat a single mouthful."

"But," said the perplexed man, "I personally cleaned that duck, and I thought at the time I had never seen a finer one. Just where is it deformed?"

"Why," she said, "on its windpipe is a hard growth that looks just like a shell."

As soon as the choking butcher could control his voice he called back: "Heavens, woman, that is the thing it quacks with."

Cadets' Great Ride.

Two hundred and fifty senior cadets of Victoria, B. C., have recently completed a 1,400-mile ride on bicycles, bearing dispatches from the state commandant to the minister for defense. The small riders averaged more than 14 miles an hour, and they completed their task 6 hours and 23 minutes ahead of schedule. This fine performance roused public interest in the new system of cadet training, which has taken the place of the monotonous drill-yard evolutions. Australia is training its youngest soldiers in camaraderie, self-sacrifice, alertness and a love of athletics. The story of the 1,400-mile ride against unexpected obstacles has set a standard which will not be easily forgotten by the Australian boy. While the dispatch ride has done much to direct attention to a happier system of training, it has also served to awaken the interest of fathers and elder brothers.

CHEESE REVIEW OF STATE OF WISCONSIN

Cheesemakers in Wood County and adjoining counties will be interested to know that the Tribune carries an exclusive review of the conditions in the State of Wood County, no other newspaper in Wood county receives this report.

Madison, Wis.—With Wisconsin the heaviest cheese producer of any state, and with the standing of Wisconsin cheese far below what it should be, all of the state departments, including that of dairy husbandry at the University of the division of markets, the dairy [illegible] commission, and the department of agriculture interested in cheese production are earnestly endeavoring to bring about a standing for Wisconsin cheese commensurate with the importance of the industry. [illegible] accounts for the low standing of the product by the [illegible] cheese is being contracted for at [illegible] per quarter [illegible] the poorest quality.

The Wisconsin Division of Markets, which under the law may establish grades, has created a tentative set of rules for grading and marketing American cheese. Should these rules and regulations go into force, all cheese handled at the 119 cheese receiving warehouses in the state must meet their requirements. Four or five inspectors will be employed to do the inspecting and grading, and every cheese package will be marked. If these tentative rules and grades are put in force it will be within a month or two. The grades, Grade 1, A, Score 93 or above, and Grade 1, score 88 to 92, inclusive. All cheese not meeting the requirements of these two grades will be classed as grade 2. Aside from the score the requirements for Grade 1, A are: Flavor, clean and desirable of fresh and especially fine and pleasing in flavor if aged. Texture may be firm (close), medium (close) firm. Meaty and smooth without gas holes. Finish and appearance, uniform in size, perfect shape, even dry surface, square edge, well dressed, neat and sound. Color, uncolored or medium, colored, uniform, slightly transulucent, without defect. Grade 1, flavor must be desirable and practically clean but may be lacking in flavor and aroma. Texture may be firm (close) medium (close) fairly firm, meaty and smooth. May show mechanical openings only but must be a good merchantable cheese. Finish and appearance, uniform in size even dry surface, square edge, well dressed, clean and sound. Reasonably free from mold, without checks or cracks. Color, uncolored or medium colored. Slightly uneven but not mottled.

The department of dairy industry at the university is watching with deep interests the experiments being conducted to determine the relative quality and keeping properties of creamery butter and whey butter. So far the scores of those testing resulted in two-thirds of the cases in favor of the butter which combined both that as ordinarily made and the whey butter. It appears to be next to impossible to detect the difference. It was because of this difficulty that Dairy and Food Commissioner Emery in his testimony before the legislative committee having the proposed repeal of the Whey-butter-label under consideration said it was almost impossible to enforce the law because of this inability to detect the difference. As the law stands any proportion of whey cream used in making butter must be labeled "whey-butter", though experts, it is said, cannot detect the difference.

Notwithstanding the slump in the cheese market during the past fifteen months, there has been less of a decline than in the majority of agricultural products. Wisconsin cheese (Double Daisies) sold at 37½ on the Plymouth market in January, 1919, the average for 1919 was but 30 cents. The highest price paid on the Plymouth market for 1920 was 34½ cents while the average of Wisconsin dairy boards for the year was 26½c. For the first three months of 1921, the average price in Wisconsin of American cheese was 24 cents.

The efforts of the division of markets to promote federation handling and marketing of cheese in Wisconsin is meeting with marked success. Every effort is being made to bring to the attention of manufacturers and of dairymen generally the advantages of this kind of cooperation. Wisely managed, and with proper cooperation, the Wisconsin Cheese Federation will in a few years, it is believed, be able to control the prices of Wisconsin cheese.

The petitions of 12 aliens were continued to the October term for various reasons, four of them being advised by the court to study more about the government so that they could satisfactorily answer the questions asked by the examiner.

Nine Are Denied

The petitions of nine aliens were denied by the court on motion of Attorney Danielson for the following reasons.

Otto Erdman, Arpin R. 1, for having made disloyal remarks during the war wherein he referred to the United States as a "dam" country that he wished to get out of and go back to Germany.

Carl Otto Herzberg, Arpin R. 1; Joe Epstein, Wisconsin Rapids; Gustave Hahm and Paul Hahm, of Lindsey, R. 1; Jacob Stoker of City Point and Louis Vargo of Rudolph had their petitions denied as in their questionnaires during the war they claimed exemption from military service on account of not being citizens of the United States.

Albert Miller of Marshfield filed his first papers in Juneau County at a time when he was a resident of Wood county, so this will necessitate the filing of a new first paper in the county where he now resides.

The petition of Paul Seebruck of Babcock was dismissed as petitioner died since he filed same.

Attorney Danielson was in Marshfield Monday and in Wisconsin Rapids on Tuesday and examined about half of the applicants outside of court on government questions so the hearing in court was greatly shortened. Attorney F. W. Manthey, the regular examiner for Judge Park's circuit was busy in St. Paul and could not attend the hearing Wednesday so it was attended by Mr. Danielson as he was in Wausau last week.

Surprise Birthday Party—

Wednesday evening eighteen young people surprised Miss Antoinette Kubisiak at her home on 10th Ave. N., the occasion being her birthday. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. At a late hour refreshments were served. Miss Kubisiak was presented with a number of gifts in honor of her birthday.

CARS COLLIDE

A Ford car driven by E. P. Senogles, owner of the bloodhound which was used here to track the drug store thieves, was badly damaged Wednesday afternoon when a sedan driven by F. Slattery of this city struck it at the foot of Baker street hill. Both machines were laid up for repairs.

Weather's Effect on Birds.

Cold and hunger in England has driven armies of birds, even the wildest, into streets and gardens and unwonted places. Great flocks of green plover, which are singularly shy as a rule, appeared in the stackyards and paddocks of Hertfordshire villages. In Buckinghamshire several thousand rooks in a flock was no rarity; and old scouts came right up to the back doors and competed for their food with the poultry and the pigs. In London it was curious to see the pigeons feeding busily on the ice, to the obvious irritation of the gulls, whose bills are useless for securing fragments from a hard surface. It was hard to be defeated by a land bird in their own element. Starlings showed even greater ability in picking up morsels from the floes and even the water of the river, a feat very foreign to their nature.

The Boy of It.

The three children were on the street car on their way to school—a boy and two younger sisters. The sisters disputed who was to push the button to notify the street car conductor to stop the car. The older sister won and held her finger on the button for more than a block. Then her brother rose, pulled her hand away arbitrarily and pushed the button. The older sister stepped into the vestibule, followed by her sister, to be the first to step off the car. As it stopped, the brother brushed them aside and led the way. The sisters having alighted, waited for the car to go on, but the boy rushed across the tracks, ignoring the warning clanging of the bell by the motorman.

Microbes in Sugar Bowl.

About one per cent of the Cuban sugar crop, valued at $1,500,000, is each year destroyed by greedy microorganisms too small to be seen except when congregated in crowds of millions. Molds and bacteria are the culprits. It is estimated that each person in the United States consumes 81.81 pounds of sugar each year. At this rate, $73,000 persons could be supplied with the sugar destroyed by germs. The sugar loses its sweetness when the molds consume the sucrose, its "sweetening" principle.

Marble Cheaper Than Wood.

A report to Washington from the American commercial attache in Rome is to the effect that American lumber has gone to such price heights in the Italian market that builders find it cheaper to put in marble staircases than to build them of wood. Such is the combined effect of mill cost, plus freight rates, multiplied by the exchange premium of four to one that Italian buyers have to pay to translate our money into theirs.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

MILLADORE MAN SHOOTS SELF; WILL RECOVER

Frank Bakoo, Milladore, is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital at Marshfield as the result of a self-inflicted wound with a revolver. The man had been suffering with a severe headache for several days and this is believed to have prompted the act.

Mr. Bakoo was taken to the Marshfield hospital with a bullet hole thru his head. The bullet entered the left temple and came out through the forehead just above the left eye. An operation was performed immediately and it is reported that he will recover.

Of course, I read it in the Tribune.

CHEESE REVIEW OF STATE OF WISCONSIN

Cheesemakers in Wood County and adjoining counties will be interested to know that the Tribune carries an exclusive review of the conditions in the State of Wood County; no other newspaper in Wood county receives this report.

Madison, Wis.—With Wisconsin the heaviest cheese producer of any state, and with the standing of Wisconsin cheese far below what it should be, all of the state departments, including that of dairy husbandry at the University, of the division of markets, the dairy and food commission, and the department of agriculture interested in cheese production are earnestly endeavoring to bring about a standing for Wisconsin cheese commensurate with the importance of the industry.
